

Toasted Bean

Presentation Document

Introduction

Purpose

The purpose of this project is to create a fictional website. The theme of the site is a coffee shop, created by two brothers in the Philadelphia area.

The website includes planning elements such as research, user journeys, competitive analysis and user studies.

Design for the website consists of wireframes, branding, and atomic style guide.

Audience

The intended audience are various type of coffee lovers, social drinkers, and/or workaholics. The site is sought out to showcase information about Toasted Bean, attracting digital consumers as well as passing bystanders.

Personas

User Journey

Mila is a 32 year old Finance Analyst. Her morning routine involves a catching up on multiple social media accounts, a hot shower, then getting ready for work. By the time she wakes up and commutes to work, she has about a 15 minute grace period where ideally, she would like to grab a coffee and even a quick morning pastry before sitting hours at her desk. She's been consistent with giving her monies to close-by Starbucks but find herself in line beyond her allotted time.

User Journey

Todd is a 19 year old sophomore. Final exams are coming up and his usual spot at the cafe has been occupied by many of his peers. While searching for an alternative location, he has a craving for coffee.

Generative User Session Summaries

The purpose of Generative User Sessions is to broadly interview people open ended questions about their experiences with coffee shops. We want to understand basic interactions/problems that can be resolved, translated and applied to the website.

Bobby

From his experience, he typically goes to the same coffee shop, Philz Coffee. The bar style and customer service atmosphere draws him to this specific location. Also, customers come to relax, socialize, and get work done; another trait that is important to him.

Auldyn

Her experience with coffee shops includes buying a certain bean from her local shop and brewing from home. Although, she prefers decaf and chai-tea, the coffee community is still a lifestyle she partakes.

Jui

An avid coffee drinker, especially Starbucks, appreciates the coffee world and all it has to offer. She drinks various types of coffee, occasionally collects merchandise such as cups and decor to show that appreciation.
